The Royal Australasian College of Physicians (RACP)

To become a Nephrologist, you will need to apply for fellowship with The Royal Australasian College of Physicians. Fellowship is a 6 year (full time) training pathway consisting of 3 years (full time) Adult Internal Medicine – Basic Training followed by 3 years (full time) Advanced Training in Nephrology.

Basic	Year 1	Adult Internal Medicine - Basic Training: 36 months (full time) consisting of:  • 24 months (full time) core training (including 3 months general and acute care medicine & 12 months in medical specialties).  • Maximum 12 months non-core training. Completing Basic Training in Adult Internal Medicine allows doctors to train in General and Acute Care Medicine and/or specialise in one of 26 medical specialties available in the Advanced Training Program.
Basic	Year 2
Basic	Year 3
Advanced	Year 4	Advanced Training in Nephrology: 36 months (full time) consisting of:  • 36 months (full time) core training.
Advanced	Year 5
Advanced	Year 6

Entry requirements/pre-requisites

- General Medical Registration with the Medical Board of Australia.
- Be a citizen of Australia or New Zealand or a permanent resident of Australia.
- Completion of the RACP Basic Training (including written and clinical exams).
- Have an appointment to an appropriate Advanced Training Position.

Application and selection process – how to apply

In Queensland, first year Basic Training Positions (BTP1) are recruited and managed directly by the individual Hospital and Health Service (HHS), not via the Network. The College is not responsible for trainee recruitment. Information relating to the training positions in hospitals accredited by the College to provide Basic Training, is accessed via the available positions within each hospital via the RMO Campaign website.

The Queensland Basic Physician Training Network provides centralised recruitment, selection and allocation of Basic Physician Trainees (BPT) intending to commence their second or third year (BPT2 and BPT3) of training in Queensland and are registrar level appointments.

New and current trainees need to apply for Advanced Training each year with RACP. To proceed to Advanced Training, applicants can secure an Advanced Training position at an accredited training site by applying through the RMO Campaign to the Queensland Nephrology Advanced Training Pathway. This is a state-wide process in Queensland and is supported by the Queensland Health Renal Heads of Department with advanced training accredited positions.

The streamlined centralised process offers two pathways:

1. A three (3) year advanced trainee pathway – the 3 year pathway meets the core RACP components of nephrology training. Up to 2 positions may be offered in this pathway each year.
2. A one (1) year advanced trainee pathway – the 1 year pathway meets the core RACP components of 1 year of nephrology training. Up to 15 positions may be offered in this pathway in 2020.

Once you have secured a training position, you must prospectively apply for approval with RACP as per the Progression through Training Policy.
